The ACM Special Interest Group on University and College Computing Services (SIGUCCS) is an association of professionals who support and manage the diverse aspects of information technology services at higher education institutions by providing professional development opportunities for our members and other individuals in the field. SIGUCCS focuses on issues surrounding the support, delivery and management of information technology services in higher education. Our primary goal is to provide a forum for the professional development of individual members, through conferences, networking, and other services. SIGUCCS sponsors an annual conference in the fall focused on front-line support service and on senior and middle management issues.

The Association for Computing Machinery (ACM) is an educational and scientific computing society which works to advance computing as a science and a profession. Benefits include subscriptions to Communications of the ACM, MemberNet, TechNews and CareerNews, full and unlimited access to online courses and books, discounts on conferences and the option to subscribe to the ACM Digital Library.
