The ACM Special Interest Group on Computers and Society (SIGCAS) brings together computer professionals, specialists in other fields, and the public at large to address concerns and arouse interest about the impact of computers on society. As part of its ongoing efforts to gather and report information, thus stimulating the exchange and dissemination of ideas, SIGCAS publishes a quarterly newsletter online and co-sponsors national and international conferences such as the International Symposium on Technology and Society, the Computers, Freedom and Privacy Conference, the Computers and Quality of Life Symposium, and the Computer Ethics and Philosophical Enquiry Conference.

The Association for Computing Machinery (ACM) is an educational and scientific computing society which works to advance computing as a science and a profession. Benefits include subscriptions to Communications of the ACM, MemberNet, TechNews and CareerNews, full and unlimited access to online courses and books, discounts on conferences and the option to subscribe to the ACM Digital Library.
