Benefits:

2014

Member Benefits provided to SIGCAS Members:

* Quarterly online magazine "Computers and Society". Members have access to the full archive of the online publication and its printed predecessor in the ACM DL. One issue per year is printed and mailed to all SIGCAS members. Please see www.sigcas.org.

* "In cooperation" sponsor of several ACM and non-ACM conferences related to SIGCAS' interests, generally including the Conference on Universal Usability, the International Symposium on Technology and Society, the Computer Ethics, Philosophical Enquiry (CEPE) conferences, and others. Members receive reduced registration rates or other privileges for these events.

- * SIGCAS presents two awards each year: The Making a Difference Award and the SIGCAS Outstanding Service award.
- * SIGCAS-ANNOUNCE mailing list - includes regular announcements of upcoming conferences and calls for participation.
- * We have revived the SIGCAS-Talk mailing list to enable member-member interactions and the committee will seek to stimulate discussion on this list amongst members. Subscription to the list is restricted to SIGCAS members, and optional for them.
- * We will be developing a new web and other online services presence in 2013-14, and seeking member feedback on their preferred methods of communication with the committee and with each other.

Community Benefits provided by SIGCAS:

- * Providing a clearing-house for ethics-related issues at ACM and in the CS/IT academia and industry, in close cooperation with ACM COPE (Committee on Professional Ethics). This particularly includes promoting computer ethics education issues.
 - * Sponsorship of ACM involvement in the IFIP (International Federation for Information Processing) Ethics Group (jointly with ACM COPE).
 - * SIGCAS-sponsored events (workshops and BOFs) often take place at SIGCSE and SIGITE.
